SAFEGUARDING ADULTS BOARD TRAINING STRATEGY

The Safeguarding Adults Board (SAB) training strategy has now been published. The strategy sets out local expectations regarding safeguarding and Mental Capacity Act 2005 (MCA) training.

Its aim is to help ensure staff get the skills they need to do their job. It seeks to achieve that by enabling employing organisations to identify staff training needs, plan to meet those needs, and assess whether or not the identified training needs have been met.

14:30 - 15:15	Session 4 – Professional Curiosity
15:15 - 16:00	The Future and Learning Event Wrap Up

Session 1 – Neurodiversity and Intersectionality – This session will identify the links between neurodiversity and safeguarding, and those identified in Safeguarding Adult Reviews, in particular Learning Disabilities, and links to themes and community groups such as Self Neglect, Self-Harm, Homelessness and Hoarders, training and awareness.

- Session 2 Carers This session will look at carers' roles and responsibilities, the general lack of recognition of unpaid carers, the support available for them, the capacity they have to deliver the care required, and how we record their concerns and issues they identify, and give them a voice.
- Session 3 Mental Capacity This session will be a general discussion on how to implement and assess capacity and not the optimistic view of a presumption of capacity that is often taken, along with how we can increase training and awareness.
- Session 4 Professional Curiosity This session will look at how we increase questioning around the individuals who are having multiple visits, avoid silo working and obtain a more holistic view of the person and their lived experience.

Attendees will be seated at group tables. Each session will consist of 20 minutes from a speaker(s) followed by a workshop in the tables about your thoughts, ideas and suggestions, which will be summarized by a speaker for each table.

The wrap-up at the end will capture the learning from the day and summarize any commitments for the Safeguarding Adults Board going forwards.

You may attend the full day, part of the day or any of the sessions at the time stipulated. Lunch will be provided.

Please confirm your attendance by emailing julie.hamilton@nelincs.gov.uk

Hosted by Dr Ty Glover

About the sessions

This is the second year of the MCA philosophy and practice series: an autumn/ winter programme of one hour sessions, delivered online. Each session is designed to be interactive and informal, focused on an aspect of the MCA. Sessions will enable attendees to engage with, and learn, from the unique experience of a guest host. The series supports local aims to develop legal literacy and a culture of reflective practice, over a sandwich!

About this session

Dr Ty Glover will deliver our fourth session this series. He trained for 10 years in anaesthesia, medicine and intensive care before choosing psychiatry as his primary discipline. As a consultant psychiatrist, Ty has gained 20 years experience of managing those with eating disorders in inpatient settings. Over the last 12 years, Ty has acted as an independent medico-legal expert, applying the MCA to complex cases in the Court of Protection.

Understanding the impact of disordered eating on behaviour, cognition and capacity can be a challenging part of working with individuals. This may particularly be the case where an individual is refusing to eat. Using examples from his practice, Ty will talk us through some of the signs which may identify lower-level difficulties with eating, and some of the capacity complications that can result from a more severe eating disorder. Learn from Ty's experience of navigating ethical and practical dilemmas around food and capacity.

Places will be free (subject to a charge for non-attendance or late cancellation within 7 days) targeted on a first come first served basis.

UPDATE ON NEL CORONER'S SERVICE

The Coroner's service is not often in the spotlight. The team deal with very sensitive and emotive issues, supporting individuals and families in the most difficult circumstances. Their work is very often unseen owing to its nature - but it is vitally important work.

The future model for the coronial service has been under review (nationally) for some time. The upshot of that review is that the 'North Lincolnshire and Grimsby District' will merge with the Lincolnshire based service. A Greater Lincolnshire model will therefore be in place from 1st April 2024.
